WAR DEPARTMENT, PROVOST MARSHAL GENERAL'S OFFICE, Washington, D C, July 19, 1863.

CIRCULAR No 53

Any person claiming exemption, on the ground of alienage shall file before the board an affidavit stating

1st That he is an alien and setting forth the Government of which he claims to be a subject

2d The time when he came into the United States, and where he has resided since that date

3d That he has never declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States and has not exercised the right of suffrage by voting at any election in any State

4th. That he claims to be exempted from military service on the ground that he is the subject of a foreign Government, and has not declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and has not voted in any State

The affidavit must be supported by proof the party may adduce.

If the Board is satisfied that the party claiming exemption is fully entitled thereto, under the act of Congress, they will discharge him from draft. But if not satisfied, they shall refer the case, with the affidavit, through the Provost Marshal General, for decision by the Department of State, in the meantime suspending any action on the case until the decision of the State Department be made. The certificate of the State Department shall in such case be considered evidence of the fact whether the person is, or is not, subject to military duty

REFRIGERATORS!

The most perfectly ventilated Refrigerator ever invented.

THESE REFRIGERATORS are constructed upon purely scientific principles the provisions and fruit in them being preserved by a cold, dry current of air thus preventing the decomposition of provisions, and the tainting of the taste of one article with another, which arises from the damp and impure atmosphere usually prevalent in the old Style Refrigerators.

The testimonials of such men as Prof Hedorf of Harvard University, Prof Hill of Brown University, and others of like distinction, placing them before all other Refrigerators and of being the most perfect of the kind ever invented, ought to be sufficient evidence of their worth.

Union Class Convention.

The citizens of the Representative District comprising the towns of Argyle, Edinburgh, Howland, Lincoln, Milford, Passadumkeag, Lowell, Burlington, Greenfield, &c., who are in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war, and who give their hearty and unquivocal support to every measure of the National Administration intended to maintain the Union and the Constitution, and the enforcement of the laws, by the military force of the country, are invited to meet, by their delegates, at the village of Passadumkeag on Saturday, the 5th day of September next at 10 o'clock A M, to nominate a candidate to be supported by the Union men of the District for Representative to the next Legislature. The basis of representation is to be one for each town and Plantation and one for every 100 inhabitants. Per order of Dist. Committee.

Is it a crime to be a Conscript.

Our jails were built to secure society against the depredations of criminals. They were built of massive granite, with immense bars and strong locks, as places of disgraceful punishment. Who are the principal occupants of their cells to-day? Why, they were white Conscripts, who were thus kept securely for the great army of Freedom.

What a spectacle for the middle of the nineteenth century! Free white men caught and caged to secure their services in an endless and bloody war for the liberation of southern negroes. Is this what the voters of Maine are ready to perpetuate? If any doubt that men are thus treated, let them inquire how many substitutes are in Belfast jail.—Republican Journal.

The above wicked and vindictive paragraph has a conspicuous place in the editorial columns of the Republican Journal of the week. We venture to assert that no man, treated in a civilized community, and among honorable men, can get low enough in the scale of humanity, as to deliberately pen so malicious an article, without going through a long course of previous training. Ordinary mortals do not become so lost to all the decencies of life, and so callous to the promptings of the inward monitor, in a day, or a month, or a year, but like the hardened criminal, it is the work of accumulating years. No well disposed person, no ordinary political partisan, prejudiced and gangrened as he may be, is equal to the task here performed. Now to the facts:

Capt Dean, in the fulness of his honest heart, with a disposition to accommodate every man, has listened to the urgent entreaties of some of the conscripted, and accommodated them by attending to their business out of business hours, before their turn, and before he was prepared. To accommodate such persons many of the substitutes have had to be lodged in jail. All these substitutes were informed before becoming such, that they would under the circumstances, have to be placed there for a few days; no one has been put there but what consented to it before hand.

There is not a conscript in jail here, nor has there been.

Many of the substitutes came from Boston, New York, &c., and no one would or could become responsible for them. They are strangers, they are well cared for in every particular and will soon be removed.

Capt. Dean, the Provost Marshal, has won the golden opinions of all, for his uniform kindness, gentlemanly department and accessibility. No man can do more to make the draft appear less harsh, or to work less injury to the community.

Scripted. As an act of justice will you give place to this, and you will much oblige a

LOOKER ON

Belfast, August 21, 1863

The Knox County Union Convention which assembled at Rockland on Friday last nominated the following excellent ticket

For Senators, George A Starr of Thomaston, John B Walker of Union. For Clerk of Courts, Charles A Miller of Rockland. For County Commissioner, Amos Cook 2d of Friendship. For Treasurer, Alden Sprague of Rockland.

The resolutions are earnest and patriotic, sustaining in full the resolutions of the Union State Convention. A grand Mass Meeting of citizens was most ably and effectively addressed by Senator Morrill, General Howard, and Lewis Barker, Esq. The speeches are represented to have been among the best of the campaign. The people have certainly aroused to the duty of making an energetic fight against Northern rebels at the polls—and we feel assured that Knox county, heretofore having a "democratic" majority, will give a good account of itself at the election. Mr Morrill and General Howard were at the Waldo County Convention in Belfast on Saturday (of which we have yet no account), and are to speak at Skowhegan tomorrow, we believe.

Whatever may be said of the tendency on the part of loyal citizens to exult before the due time for exultation has arrived, there can be no doubt that the Southern despondency and alarm are now far greater than the Northern exultation. The Richmond and Charleston journals almost conceal their apprehension that the crisis of the rebellion is upon them, and that the present aspect of affairs is decidedly against them. We have before quoted Richmond Examiner of Aug 10 to indicate the tone and the borders of its editorial. It is "now or never." It sees plainly the coming doom, and deems it its duty to speak with openness to warn its readers that the tide has turned against them, and that it can be stemmed only by superhuman efforts on the part of the rebels. It freely admits that too much has been done to exasperate the North, that the South had better have submitted two years ago than now, as it could then have made "infinitely better terms than it can now expect to make," adding, "If we have at last to re enter the Union" (a possibility that would not have been for a moment admitted six months ago) "we go back as beaten men." Indeed, the Enquirer begins to reflect, as it never has done before, upon the folly by which the South has been enslaving, and to feel that it has carried its arrogance and criminality further than the event is likely to warrant. Some Northern sympathizers with and and advocates of the rebel cause will feel rebuked by its admissions. The Enquirer says

If we had compromised the matter at first, we should have had plenty of friends and partisans in the Northern States, who would not only have received us back in triumph and honor (what they call honor) but would have eagerly offered us their alliance to insure another long period of "democratic" rule.

THE SECESH CONVENTION AT EXETER. A correspondent writes:

The Democratic County and Mass Convention at Exeter, yesterday, was a perfect failure. Every effort was made to rally the people, and instead of the 5,000 who were expected, not a soul over 500, including men, women and children, were on the ground for the day, including many Union men attracted by curiosity. While the speakers were violently denouncing the conscription act, the gallant Sergeant Lovejoy from the 2d Maine, was busy among the crowd notifying the conscripts. The manner in which this quiet, unarmed officer was treated, was a striking evidence that we have a Government.

Yours, EXETER

GRAND GOOD MEETINGS. The citizens of the adjoining towns have been holding a series of glorious Union meetings the past week.

Wednesday evening an immense crowd collected near the flag staff at Oldtown to hear C C Woodman, Esq., of Boston, one of the best political speakers now in the field. At least fifteen hundred people were present. A L Simpson, Esq., of Bangor, made a brief speech, after which Mr. Woodman spoke for an hour and a half to an attentive and enthusiastic audience.

Friday evening the Church at East Corinth was packed full, and hundreds could not gain admittance. Mr Woodman addressed them, after which Col. Dunning of this city made a characteristic speech which kept the audience in a roar.

Saturday evening Mr Woodman and Mr Simpson spoke at Kenduskeag to a crowded house. The audience expressed their satisfaction by repeated applause. The work goes bravely on.

SMASHING MASS MEETING AT BELFAST. Saturday afternoon over five thousand people assembled at Belfast at the Union Mass Meeting. General O O Howard, the hero of Gettysburg, made an irresistible charge on the copperheads, and they were placed in the position of the enemy at the battle of Gettysburg, in which Gen H figured so conspicuously. General Howard has fought the rebels so long that he is at home in the business.

The Union Convention nominated as candidates for the State Senate, Milliken of Burnham, a Union Democrat, and Wm McGilvery of Searsport.

A letter from Key West, dated August 13th, says, that all the efficient war vessels in the harbor had gone to sea in the direction of Mobile. The San Jacinto, the flagship of Admiral Bailey, had sailed for that place.

BUT LITTLE DIFFERENCE. The New Orleans Era says—"The Mobile papers accuse the Vicksburg prisoners of bringing down and passing counterfeit money. In this city counterfeit and genuine Confederate Treasury notes are of about equal value."

MEXICO AND TEXAS. The New York Evening Post urgently calls upon the United States Government to occupy the line of the Rio Grande, and gives a statement of facts as well as adduces arguments to prove that unless this is done speedily, the French Mexican Government will seize upon the State of Texas and declare it a part of Mexico, to which they will obtain the consent of a large portion of the inhabitants. The Post says—

Private letters from Mexico bring intelligence that the liberals of that country have decided to give up the contest with France and submit to the fortunes of war. It is reported that General Comonfort has taken the oath of fidelity to the Government established by General Forey, and there is reason to believe that the greater part of the liberals will also make their peace. They consider the struggle hopeless and perhaps injurious to their country, and prefer peace and the security of their rights of property to the risks of war. General Forey has begun a rigorous system of confiscation of the estates of all who oppose him, and the energy he has displayed in dealing with those he denounces as malcontents, has forced them to this speedy submission.

We recounted a few days ago some of the measures which he adopted on the capture of Puebla, towards the garrison of that place. The Mexican soldiers who fell into his hands as prisoners of war, were set to work on the roads and railroads, or else taken into the French Mexican service; the officers he sent out of the country, the guerillas he shoots wherever he can catch them, and since his entrance in Mexico he has announced a confiscation of property, real and personal, of all who do not at once adhere to the government he has set up. The speedy submission of the liberals is the fruit of these energetic measures. It will occur to the reader that the rebel chiefs in our Southern States used very much the same measures with like effect.

* * * * * * *

It remains to be seen if our Government and people will not learn something from the method of the French Emperor. The time is not far off when we shall have to determine what disposition to make of the rebel leaders and their most influential abettors, and we trust the Administration will see the importance of quieting the country by forcing these hardened malcontents to leave it, and at the same time enforcing the submission of the remaining population by a vigorous confiscation of the property of those who persist in their illegal opposition to the supreme law of the land.

The submission of the Mexican liberals, if it proves as general as there is reason to believe, may have an important effect on our relations with Mexico. The policy of the Emperor of the French will be the policy of Mexico, and if he has any ambitious designs upon a part of our territory, or harbors a purpose to assist the rebels, the time may be near which shall witness the development of his intention.

It is known that Miramon, perhaps the ablest of the revolutionary leaders who are supported by the French, was recently at Matamoras. His purposes were not known, but it was believed that he was intriguing to bring the border States of the Mexican Union under French rule without a fight, by a pronunciamento, and we have been assured that the Governors of those States, who were thought until recently to be hostile to the French are ready to submit.

General Miramon and his agents design also, it is believed, an attempt to bring Texas back under the Mexican flag. Several circumstances which which have come to our knowledge confirm the suspicion that such an attempt may be made at any moment which the Mexican General believes favorable for its execution.

INTERESTING SOUTHERN NEWS. The Port Royal New South of Aug 15, gives extracts and summaries of news from Savannah and Macon papers of recent date, from which the following is compiled:

The Daily News of Savannah gives an account of the capture of the launch of the Wabash, by the Confederate blockade runner Juno, Lieut Porcher commanding, on the night of the 6th inst. The Confederate gunboat, Chicora, Capt Tucker commanding, started down the river accompanied by the Juno, for the purpose of reconnoitering the channel. Porcher's orders were to run into or capture any of our barges or launches that came in his way. About a mile from Cummings Point, the Juno ran into a Wabash launch, containing a crew of twenty-two men, under the command of Acting Master E L Haines, of the Powhatan, and carrying a 12 pound howitzer. Twelve of the crew jumped overboard, and the remainder, including Haines, surrendered. The Chicora and Juno then returned with their prize, having been fired at by our gunboats, but without damage. Two of our men were subsequently arrested on Sullivan's Island, having swam over two miles from the captured launch.

In giving an account of the capture of Capt L S Paine, 100th New York, and his boat's crew in Light House inlet, on Tuesday night, the 4th inst, the rebel paper compliments him highly upon his skill and daring as a scout.

In an article on Gen Pemberton the Mobile Advertiser says of the paroled Vicksburg garrison: "The Texas and Louisiana troops have crossed the Mississippi river, and are lost to this army, and of those on this side nearly all have gone home with or without furloughs." Lieut Gen Harden, who succeeds General Pemberton, is now at the head of Johnston's troops on Strong river, and the Vicksburg garrison is included in his command.

The Jackson Mississippian, which must have a very portable press, is now issued at Selma, Ala; Rosecrans will soon give it another publication office.

The rebel steamer Robert Habersham, which has been watching for our advance movement up the Savannah river, was entirely destroyed by an explosion of her boiler, while lying off Screven's ferry on the morning of the 8th inst. The entire crew were either killed or mortally wounded.

A special order has been issued by Brig Gen Mercer, in command at Savannah, impressing into the rebel service one-fifth of the able bodied male slaves in eastern, southern and southwestern Georgia, for the purpose of erecting additional fortifications for the defense of Savannah. "Transportation will be furnished them, and wages paid at the rate of $25 per month. The government will be responsible for the value of such negroes as may be killed by the enemy, or may in any manner fall into his hands."

The Georgia State Government makes salt gratuitously to "all widows of soldiers, all soldier's wives, all widows having a son or sons in service, all other families dependent upon the labor of a soldier in service for support, and all families of disabled soldiers who have been discharged on account of wounds or disability."

All the free blacks in Savannah have been seized and put to work upon the fortifications, and no negroes are allowed to leave the city on any pretext whatever.

The rebel editors howl for the execution of our officers, Sawyer and Flynn, now under sentence of death at Richmond, and say that "the people call for the death of these two Yankees, and it is useless to delay their death any longer."

The Macon Daily Telegraph is full of rumors and alarms about Grant's and Rosecrans' intended raids into Georgia. The following are samples "We have conversed with a gentleman just from North Mississippi, who made a scout within a few miles of Memphis He says that the Federals were preparing for a grand cavalry raid into this State for the purpose of destroying our extensive powder mills Memphis refugees confirm this rumor"

A letter from Newton, Georgia, reports as a certain fact that Rosecrans is now making a flank movement on Bragg's army by way of Rome, with a force variously estimated from sixteen thousand upwards.

In an editorial upon the depreciation of the rebel currency, the Telegraph says "The currency is getting some hard knocks in the times It has not only to stand such practical jokes as swapping off eleven dollars for one of Lincoln's gold dollars at public auction, by parties whipsawed to run the blockade and join the frenzy, but it is deliberately blackguarded by dealers in fancy rings and gewgaws, 'tet yourself high for' Your humbug is no good sah nothing at all It ain wort no more sah five shemin ter tollar your tollers for ter called ish twenty shents—no more—no less Wat you say high for " Ah the Lord he p us! If Congress at the outset of this war had deliberately press desired it to do, it would have made its obligations at this day as good as gold, wielded a tremendous lever, financial and political"

[The following poem first appeared in the Whig & Courier about three years ago, and has since been extensively copied in the periodicals of the day William Cullen Bryant, the poet, in a recent notice pronounces it "a striking poem — with fine thoughts and admirably treated]

THE COVERED BRIDGE

BY DAVID BARKER

Tell the fainting soul in the weary form
There's a world of the purest bliss
That is linked as that soul and form are linked
By a Covered Bridge with this

We do reach that realm on the other shore
We must pass through a transient glade,
And must walk unseen, unhelped and alone
Through that Covered Bridge—the tomb.

But we all pass over on equal terms,
For the universal fall
In the outer garb which the hand of God
Has flung around the soul

Though the eye is dim, and the Bridge is dark
And the river it spans is wide
Yet faith points through to a shining moon
That looms on the other side

To enable our feet in the next day's march
To climb up that golden ridge,
We must lie down for a one night's rest
Inside of this Covered Bridge

Lyceum at Camden. The ladies of St Thomas (Episcopal) Society, at Camden, will hold their Annual Lyceum at School House Hall, on Wednesday evening of this week. Refreshments of various kinds, including ice creams, will be provided, and the occasion will be due of much social enjoyment In addition to the usual festivities, there will be a grand Promenade Concert, with music by Whitten's Quadrille Band, one of the best bands in that section of the State If the weather is unsuitable the Lyceum will be postponed till the first fair evening

A Rockland Sea Captain Murdered in China—We learn from the Rockland Gazette that Captain John McKinnon of that city, formerly master of bark Emily Banning, was basely and fatally shot at Shanghae, on the 26th of May last, by a miserable accountant named Bulkley The affair happened at an eating saloon, where Bulkley impudently replied to some remarks made by Captain B to another person, in regard to the rebel piracies upon our commerce—after which an altercation occurred, during which Bulkley drew a pistol and shot the Captain, and then fled (A reward of $7500 is offered for his arrest The deceased was about to remove his family to San Francisco, and his wife was awaiting his summons to go

Belfast is to have some 32 pounder batteries to protect its harbor against rebel cruisers — Sodom of old was to be saved from the wrath of God if ten righteous men were found within its walls. Will not Belfast be sufficiently secure from the wrath of the devil (or his rebel agents) by having within its borders so rank an organ of secession as the journal of that city?

Reception at Camden Company F, 26th Maine Regiment raised in Camden, and commanded by Captain A E Clark, was handsomely received by the citizens of Camden on Thursday afternoon last A large procession of citizens was formed on the steamboat wharf, under B C Adams, Esq, and escorted the returning members of the company Twelve guns were fired and the bells rang during the reception, and while the company was being escorted to the School House Hall

At the Hall, Edward Cushing, Esq as Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, introduced to Captain Clark, S R Simonton Esq, who in behalf of the citizens gave the boys a hearty welcome back to their homes and families, speaking briefly and appropriately of the gallant behavior of the company, thanked them on behalf of the [illegible] Captain Clark responded [illegible]

Awful The Charleston papers, in discussing the "nice" question whether free colored soldiers in the Union armies can possibly be recognized as belligerents, say that such recognition might one day bring about the awful result (to "the cavalry") of having a white man exchanged for a negro

Rebel Papers Preparing for Fall of Charleston—Lee's Army Reported Moving Towards Richmond—A "Big Retreat" Panic in Richmond—The Rebels Anxious for Federal Money—Rebels Anxious to Return to the Union—Rosecrans Moving on Chattanooga—Burnside's Army Advancing

, New York, 22d

The Herald has the following—The Chattanooga Rebel of the 15th says we look for the worst at Charleston It never will be taken as it stands, however, it would be mined and blown up from its foundation first We do not anticipate any very encouraging news from that quarter The journals of the city of Charleston may put the best face on the matter from motives of patriotism, but we had as well be prepared for any emergency

The Macon (Ga) Telegraph of the 12th says, we think the Chattanooga Rebel is unnecessarily despondent about Charleston It is true she may in time succumb to superior numbers and heavier ordnance, but the numbers are not there yet, and the hopes of a successful defence have grown with every day since the beginning of the siege, and so has the strength of the position The Charlestonians don't believe their city will be taken, and we shall not believe it until it is done

The Herald has the following

(Headquarters Army of the Potomac,
August 21st.

I have information from three different sources which leads me to believe that the rebels have left our front and gone south to Richmond.—Deserters who come in across the Rappahannock say that the movement of troops towards Fredericksburg from Culpepper was only a ruse to cover Lee's real object to enable him to move his troops southward by way of Gordonsville
